Speck Trial

Murder Witness To Face Defense

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Public defender Gerald Getty is basing his defense of Richard Speck on an attempt to destroy Corazon Amurao's identification of the 25-year-old seaman as the killer of eight nurses.

Miss Amurao, 24, a nurse from the Philippines, faces cross-examination by Getty on her account of how the nurses were slain.

The young woman was on the witness stand for four hours Wednesday. She sobbed into her white handkerchief twice but otherwise her face was expressionless. Her voice was mostly calm as she told of the night in which her eight roommates were strangled and stabbed on the South Side of Chicago.

The confrontation between the survivor of the July 14 mass killing and Speck in the murder trial came after prosecutor William Martin asked, "Did you wake up at any time Wednesday night, July 13?"

"I heard a knock in our bedroom," the witness said. "It was about four knocks. I went to the door and I unlocked it and I started to open it and at once there's someone pushing the door."

"I saw a man." At this point the 4-foot-10, black-haired nurse cried.

"If you see that same man in the courtroom today, will you please step down and point him out," Martin asked.

The girl walked deliberately from the witness stand to the defense table. She raised her arm and pointed one finger at Speck.

"This is the man!" she said. She said Speck forced her and Miss Merita Garcullo to leave their room and go to the south bedroom where three other student nurses were sleeping.

"What happened when you went to the south bedroom?" Martin asked.

"I rushed to the rear of the bedroom, going to the small closet," Miss Amurao said. "Miss Garcullo and Miss Valentina Pasion were behind me."

The three girls, all from the Philippines, were in the closet five minutes before an American nurse persuaded them to come out. The three Americans in the room were Pamela Wilkening, Patricia Matusek, and Nina Schmale.

Miss Amurao said Speck told the girls he needed money to go to New Orleans and that each got out her purse and gave him some bills.

She said Speck pulled out a knife, sliced a bed sheet into strips, and began tying the girls' ankles and wrists.

"Then Speck counted at us, by pointing the gun, and he said, 'one, two, three, four, five, six.'"

She said Speck heard a female voice downstairs and stood behind the door waiting as Gloria Davy entered the room.

The witness said the killer cut the sheets on Miss Wilkening's ankles and led her from the room.

"After about one minute, I heard Miss Wilkening say, 'ah. It was like a sigh,' she said. (Continued on Page 14)

NYC Ordered To Continue 4 Passenger Trains

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Central Railroad was ordered today to continue operating four passenger trains that link New York City with four midwestern cities, pending an investigation of the runs.

The Public Service Commission issued the order in connection with the Carrier's Wolverine and Ohio State Limited and its Wolverine and Cleveland Limited.

The railroad had proposed to operate only one train in each direction beginning April 30, citing economic reasons.

A public hearing is scheduled here April 20. The two Wolverine trains operate between Chicago and New York City through Detroit. The Ohio State Limited operates from Cincinnati through Cleveland to New York City, while the Cleveland Limited operates from New York City to Chicago with a stop in Cleveland.

Woman Wins Suit After Baby Born

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — A Puyallup, Wash., woman who gave birth to a girl after dehydration pills were accidentally substituted for birth control pills was awarded an $8,000 judgment Wednesday by a Superior Court jury.

Her husband, Larry Coloff, was awarded one dollar. The couple's daughter was born Oct. 11, 1965.

The suit against a Puyallup drug store claimed negligence through a mistake in refilling a prescription for birth control pills. The suit contended that pills used to lower body liquid content had been substituted.

"THIS IS THE MAN" — Corazon Amurao (left), only survivor of the massacre of 8 nurses in Chicago, comes to court in Peoria, Ill., where she identified Richard Speck, accused killer, as "the man." Chief prosecutor William Martin (right) is continuing a series of witnesses who claim Speck was in the area where the slayings took place.

AFTRA Picket Lines Rated Most Glamorous Anywhere

NEW YORK (AP) — For nine days, long black limousines have pulled up at the three major broadcast networks to discharge their stars, not for work, but for what must be the most star-studded, highest-paid picket lines ever.

There was for instance, John Daley, son-in-law of the U.S. chief justice and erudite moderator of the CBS panel show "What's My Line?"

Around and around the CBS building he went his back and chest emblazoned with black and red letters proclaiming, "CBS Unfair to AFTRA" (the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists).

He stopped to sign autographs and chat with admirers, and proposed electrically heated picket signs for winter strikes. When one young woman demanded, "Who are you," he replied: "Walter Cronkite."

But the real Walter Cronkite hasn't shown up to picket, although he has not gone to work.

Walkout Hits Westinghouse

Wildcat Strike Idles Some 4300

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Operations at Columbus' huge Westinghouse Electric Corp. plant was halted today by a wildcat strike of the International Union of Electrical Workers Local 746.

William Forsythe, president of the local, told newsmen the walkout was not sanctioned by either the local or international unions.

However, he said he had sent a telegram to international headquarters seeking strike authorization. If it is granted, he said, the union must serve a three-day notice on the company before the strike becomes authorized.

About 4,200 to 4,300 workers are involved in the walkout, according to Forsythe. Salaried employees were being permitted to enter the plant for work Thursday morning, however.

Union members on the picket line said the issue concerned suspension of a divisional steward in the air conditioning division of the plant. They claimed two men were moved from a job leaving a third man to handle the work of all three. When the third man was unable to handle the job, they claim, he was suspended.

A company spokesman, who also called the strike illegal, said the company suspended a division steward who "repeatedly ignored management's warnings against wilful hampering of production."

Picketing was peaceful, with no incidents of violence reported. A telephone pole was set afire accidentally from a fire workers had lighted to keep warm.

Hunt Small Boy Believed Drowned

MORROW, Ohio (AP) — Warren County sheriff's deputies and Civil Defense units continued their search today for a small boy reported drowned in a rain-swollen tributary of the Little Miami River.

Sheriff Byron Kennard said no one had reported a missing child, but Fred Kissell, 19, Morrow, told him of wading out into the creek Wednesday night after a boy of about 7. Kissell told Kennard he saw the boy go under.

either. Nor has David Brinkley of NBC. ABC's network newscaster, Peter Jennings, did turn up for his strike placards at least once and was so mobbed by screaming fans that he may have had second thoughts about showing up again.

The striking Cronkite, Brinkley and Jennings, and many of their companions, earn annual salaries well into six figures. They walked off their jobs for some 100 members of their 18,700-member union who make around $300 a week.

Police usually assigned to keep pickets walking are absent, and the star-pickets stop often to affix their names to scraps of paper. One agent has even sent out press notices on when his client would picket.

Our fan planted himself in front of Hugh Downs, host of NBC's "Today" show, and asked, "Are you anybody famous?"

"No," Downs replied. At NBC, a notice was pinned on the news desk for supervisory personnel filling in for striking broadcasters.

It reads: "Brass talent; All copy must be at the copy desk 20 minutes before air time — per instructions of our executives."

One of those executives, George Hememann, usually a producer, launched his new, if temporary, career as an on-camera weatherman by stating: "The temperature tomorrow will be in the fifty-ones and fifty-tuos."

The following night, he apologized for the flub.

"I was kidded about it all day," he told his audience. "Anyway, the temperature tomorrow will be in the sixty-ones to sixty-fives. Winds will be mostly westerly."

He also apologized for his first-night nervousness. It was due, he said, to the fact that his socks were falling down.

Medicare Meet Told Family MD Is on Way Out

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Dr. S. J. Axelrod, a University of Michigan physician, says modern medicine leaves no room for the family doctor and "one ill, one pill and one bill."

Axelrod told the final session of a three-day conference on Medicare at Social Security headquarters Wednesday, "In this age of specialization, realists can appreciate how inefficient it is to call for the old-time family doctor."

"We're just not turning out old-time family doctors. With specialization and with the complexity of today's medical services and their high cost, we can never expect to go back to the day of one ill, one pill and one bill," he said.

"As a nation, we are necessarily moving from primary concern with paying medical bills to an increasing concern with the manner in which services are rendered — toward a higher organization of medical care."

Policeman Dies

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton city patrolman accidentally shot by a fellow officer several weeks ago died today in Miami Valley Hospital.

The victim was Ronald Wells, 25, who seemingly was recovering sufficiently that he hoped to return to duty in a limited capacity such as dispatcher, although doctors said he was doomed to permanent partial paralysis.

Traffic Victim Dies Today In Hospital

Highway Death Toll For Pickaway County Is Two in 1967

Chalmer Crum, 54, a resident of Cleveland, became the second traffic victim in Pickaway County when he died today in Berger Hospital.

Chalmer's death was attributed to injuries he suffered in a traffic accident Sunday two miles south of Circleville. He was a passenger in a car driven by Ballard D. Bellamy, 22, of Midcliff, W. Va.

The accident was investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. Deputy Warren Straley, the investigating officer, was told by Bellamy that the car he was driving was forced into the medial by another vehicle.

Bellamy's car flipped over, coming to a halt in the opposite lane of traffic.

Bellamy is still a patient in Berger Hospital where he was admitted for treatment of injuries sustained in the crash.

Probe Spawns 2nd Perjury Indictment

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Jim Garrison's controversial Kennedy assassination conspiracy probe has spawned its second perjury indictment.

Layton Patrick Martens, 24, a college student who once lived with David W. Ferrie, was indicted Wednesday by the Orleans Parish (County) grand jury on a charge he lied under oath.

"It's an attempt by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison to discredit any and all witnesses who did not bolster the Garrison investigation," said Martens in Lafayette, La.

"I took a lie detector test in Garrison's office last December and it was positive in my favor."

Arrangement was made for Martens to surrender at the sheriff's office today, with bond set at $2,500.

The indictment was issued about three hours after Clay L. Shaw, 54, a retired New Orleans executive, pleaded innocent at arraignment in Criminal District Court on a charge of conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

On that day, Lyndon B. Johnson was an 8-year-old in a Texas hamlet.

Hubert H. Humphrey, 6, was learning his ABC's in Wallace, S.D.

Robert F. Kennedy was not born until some eight years later.

But there is one man who was in Congress when war was declared April 6, 1917, who is still there — Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz. He'll be 90 next fall.

TV-Radio Strike Growing Wider

NEW YORK (AP) — Walkouts by engineers and other technicians in sympathy with the AFTRA performers strike took hold today in several areas of network radio and television, as officials of NBC and ABC said "amateur" replacements were responsible for a night of wavering sound and blurred pictures.

"We'll have them rerunning reruns soon," a union leader said after engineers stayed away from work today at ABC and NBC in New York. Their ABC and NBC counterparts at Los Angeles said they too would refuse to work.

The engineers, members of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, were among 15 theatrical unions, including cameramen, technicians, stagehands, set designers, musicians and electricians who voted Wednesday to support the nine-day old strike of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

The move "will obviously hurt us," a network spokesman said. AFTRA's executive secretary, Donald F. Conway commented: "If this doesn't shut down the networks it will surely slow them down."

In immediate jeopardy was weekend sports coverage, including the Masters golf tournament on CBS, although that network reported its engineers were on their jobs.

But an AFTRA spokesman in Los Angeles said men arriving at the Augusta, Ga., course to telecast the event were being told to honor AFTRA picket lines. As a result, the spokesman said, the tournament may not be broadcast unless CBS can assemble sufficient management personnel to handle it.

News staffs will be reduced for President Johnson's scheduled trip Monday to Punta del Este, Uruguay, and the networks said there will be no satellite coverage as once contemplated.

It was also announced Wednesday that Monday's presentation of motion picture Academy Awards would go on as scheduled even if the strike is not resolved and the Oscar show is not broadcast.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense ministers of seven Atlantic Alliance nations began today a two-day conference focusing on what the West should do in view of the Soviet buildup of defensive missiles.

The defense ministers of Canada, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Turkey, Britain, and the United States — all partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — are meeting for two days of secret talks opening today.

It Was 50 Years Ago Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty years ago today the United States entered World War I — called the Great War until a greater one came along — and stepped toward a role in world leadership.

On that day, Lyndon B. Johnson was an 8-year-old in a Texas hamlet.

Hubert H. Humphrey, 6, was learning his ABC's in Wallace, S.D.

Robert F. Kennedy was not born until some eight years later.

But there is one man who was in Congress when war was declared April 6, 1917, who is still there — Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz. He'll be 90 next fall.

Hayden came to the House in 1912 on admission of Arizona as a state. He served there until elected to the Senate in 1926.

In a war anniversary interview, Hayden recalled long hours of debate before the House passed the war resolution 373 to 50 in the early morning hours of April 6.

But of all that was said, Hayden related, "I remember most distinctly the remarks of Jeanette Rankin, the lady from Montana."

Miss Rankin, a Republican and the first woman elected to the House, did not respond until her name had been called four times on the roll call. Then, close to tears, she stood and said, "I want to stand by my country, but I cannot vote for war. I vote no."

Chronologically, the steps in the declaration of war were these:

April 2—Wilson, addressing a night joint Senate-House session, asked for the declaration. It was then that he said "the world must be made safe for democracy," the line most remembered from that address.

More prophetically, he also said: "Neutrality is no longer feasible or desirable where the peace of the world is involved and the freedom of its people. We have seen the last of neutrality in such circumstances."

April 3—Sen. Robert M. La Follette, R-Wis., by the technicality of invoking Senate rules and refusing unanimous consent, temporarily blocked Senate consideration of the resolution.

10 Arrested For Alleged Conspiracy

BERLIN (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey came to West Berlin today despite a police roundup of a group of youthful extremists fashioning explosive devices to disturb his visit.

The vice president flew here to reaffirm U.S. support for the Communist-surrounded city after conferences with government officials in Bonn. He said the talks convinced him the friendship between the United States and West Germany is strong and secure.

Shortly before Humphrey's arrival, West Berlin police announced that they had released three girls in the group arrested because their connection with the conspirators "could not be proved with certainty."

The announcement said 10 young persons had been arrested instead of 11 as previously stated.

Police said they seized the plotters Wednesday night as they were preparing explosive bombs and plastic bags filled with chemicals for an assault on the vice president. The youths' attorney said they told him they were preparing smoke bombs.

It was reported that some of those arrested were members of the leftist German Socialist Students Group. An informed non-German source said the youths were disciples of Red China's Mao Tse-tung.

Authorities said that a preliminary examination by police specialists showed that the confiscated chemicals "in the right mixture were suitable for the production of generally dangerous explosives."

A spokesman added, however, that an "exact analysis still had not been determined."

"You could conclude that they could have been used for very dangerous throwing objects," he added.

One source said the explosives were to be thrown along Humphrey's route and into the city hall during his visit.

It was the first incident since Humphrey arrived in West Germany Wednesday and competed for attention with the diplomatic success of his mission to Bonn.

Coppolino Trial Stalls over Jury

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — A defense effort to speed up seating a jury was stalled today in the fourth day of Dr. Carl Coppolino's second murder trial.

The attorney-pharmacist's counsel, F. Lee Bailey, had asked Judge Lynn Silvertooth to rule that prospective jurors must be asked first their attitude toward capital punishment. The judge told Bailey informally that he can't dictate the line of questioning.

April 4—The Senate debated the resolution for 13 hours and at 11 p.m. passed it 82 to 6.

April 5—The House began consideration of the resolution.

April 6—After 13 hours of debate, the House passed it. Newspapers of the day variously reported the time as 3:12 a.m. and 3:15 a.m. At 1:13 p.m., Wilson signed it.

One account is that Wilson's action was signaled by semaphore from a White House window to the Navy Department, then relayed to ships at sea.

The United States sent two million men "Over There" and one was a 21-year-old from Pekin, Ill., named Everett McKinley Dirksen, now the Senate Republican leader.

Murder Witness To Face Defense

In a war anniversary interview, Hayden recalled long hours of debate before the House passed the war resolution 373 to 50 in the early morning hours of April 6.

But of all that was said, Hayden related, "I remember most distinctly the remarks of Jeanette Rankin, the lady from Montana."

Miss Rankin, a Republican and the first woman elected to the House, did not respond until her name had been called four times on the roll call. Then, close to tears, she stood and said, "I want to stand by my country, but I cannot vote for war. I vote no."

10 Arrested For Alleged Conspiracy

BERLIN (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey came to West Berlin today despite a police roundup of a group of youthful extremists fashioning explosive devices to disturb his visit.

The vice president flew here to reaffirm U.S. support for the Communist-surrounded city after conferences with government officials in Bonn. He said the talks convinced him the friendship between the United States and West Germany is strong and secure.

Shortly before Humphrey's arrival, West Berlin police announced that they had released three girls in the group arrested because their connection with the conspirators "could not be proved with certainty."

The announcement said 10 young persons had been arrested instead of 11 as previously stated.

Police said they seized the plotters Wednesday night as they were preparing explosive bombs and plastic bags filled with chemicals for an assault on the vice president. The youths' attorney said they told him they were preparing smoke bombs.

It was reported that some of those arrested were members of the leftist German Socialist Students Group. An informed non-German source said the youths were disciples of Red China's Mao Tse-tung.

Authorities said that a preliminary examination by police specialists showed that the confiscated chemicals "in the right mixture were suitable for the production of generally dangerous explosives."

A spokesman added, however, that an "exact analysis still had not been determined."

"You could conclude that they could have been used for very dangerous throwing objects," he added.

One source said the explosives were to be thrown along Humphrey's route and into the city hall during his visit.

It was the first incident since Humphrey arrived in West Germany Wednesday and competed for attention with the diplomatic success of his mission to Bonn.

Coppolino Trial Stalls over Jury

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — A defense effort to speed up seating a jury was stalled today in the fourth day of Dr. Carl Coppolino's second murder trial.

The author-physician's counsel, F. Lee Bailey, had asked Judge Lynn Silvertooth to rule that prospective jurors must be asked first their attitude toward capital punishment. The judge told Bailey informally that he can't dictate the line of questioning.

One account is that Wilson's action was signaled by semaphore from a White House window to the Navy Department, then relayed to ships at sea.

The United States sent two million men "Over There" and one was a 21-year-old from Pekin, Ill., named Everett McKinley Dirksen, now the Senate Republican leader.

Kidnapers Return Boy Unharmed

Financier's Son
Released after Ransom Payment

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A Beverly Hills financier described today how his 11-year-old son was kidnaped without a hitch, then returned unharmed after a large ransom was paid.

Herbert J. Young, 35, president of Gibraltar Savings and Loan Association, said $250,000 ransom was asked for his son Kenneth, but he did not disclose the amount paid.

Kenneth was bound and blindfolded early today in a car parked in an apartment house garage in nearby Santa Monica. After obeying instructions to wait for a half-hour, he worked loose and ran to the nearest apartment to call his parents. He had been missing since early Monday.

The FBI said the kidnapers picked up the ransom Wednesday in Westwood a few miles from Beverly Hills and were at large.

A maid discovered Kenneth's empty bed Monday morning and took Young a note she found warning him not to call the police and describing how to turn over $250,000 for the boy's return.

"As soon as we read that note, my wife and I agreed that the thing to do was to call the police immediately," Young recalled. The family and authorities maintained the secret while scores of policemen and FBI agents went to work.

Dressed in a blue polo shirt, black slacks and a tan windbreaker, dragging on a cigarette occasionally, the slightly graying Young sat back in a wicker chair in a spacious room.

"I had half a dozen phone calls Monday but the party at the other end never spoke to me," he said. "Last night I did as the letter said and drove to the phone booth. The call came at 6 p.m. and the man said, 'are you Herbert?'"

"He spoke in a slow, soft voice. He sounded very intelligent. I then drove to the gas station and waited beside my car. About 45 minutes later a white Chevy Impala slowed down right in front of the station. The individual motioned me to follow him."

Young followed the man's car to a clear gravel area. The man asked for the bag.

"He had his left hand free but his right hand was in his jacket. I didn't know if he was armed. I gave him the bag. Then I came back home."

"The next call was about 4 a.m. Kenney was on the phone and said he had been drugged with three sleeping pills and was in a man's apartment in Santa Monica. Then a man came to the phone and said, 'I have your son here; he's fine, but he's tired.'"

Market Gain Is Moderate

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market held a moderate gain on balance early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

The market rose from the start but softness in a number of blue chips kept the averages from showing much of a gain.

In the over-all list, however, gainers outnumbered losers by more than a two-to-one ratio.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.17 at 862.36.

Analysts said inflationary overtones were involved in President Johnson's recommendations for a postal rate increase and a federal employee pay raise.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 319.9 with industrials, rails and utilities each up .6.

Mischa Elman Suffers Fatal Heart Attack

Famed Violinist
Made American
Debut in 1908

NEW YORK (AP) — After 70 years as a master of the violin, Mischa Elman told an interviewer: "I don't have the right to let my admirers down. And so I practice every day. It is the duty of every artist to do so."

Wednesday — the day he died — began much like every other day for the 76-year-old roly-poly and pink-faced man who had played more than 5,000 concerts — reputedly a world record for an instrumentalist.

Elman and his accompanist, Joseph Seiger, rehearsed for the customary three hours, preparing for concerts scheduled for the fall and for next year.

Then the artist — who refused to retire and who said he was "concerned with the present and therefore with the future" — left his Central Park West duplex apartment to have lunch.

Late in the afternoon he returned to the apartment, where his wife was in an upstairs bedroom recovering from a foot fracture. A maid was the only other person there.

Elman, stricken with a heart attack, called to his wife that he was unable to breathe. She summoned a doctor, but attempts to revive Elman with oxygen were fruitless.

Thus ended a career that began in his native Russia, where Elman first took up the violin at the age of 4, and that carried him to concert stages on every continent.

Last January, after an extended tour of Europe, he toured the West Coast. His last New York appearance was on Jan. 17 at Carnegie Hall.

Elman played his 5,000th concert last June 30 at Lewisohn Stadium in New York. It brought a letter from President Johnson, which began: "What a marvelous milestone!"

He made his American debut in 1908, at the age of 17. In 1925, Elman married Helen Frances Katten of San Francisco. Besides his widow, he leaves a son, Joseph, an actor in Hollywood; a daughter, Nadia, the wife of Mel Mack of San Francisco; two sisters, Misses Liza and Esther Elman, music teachers in Philadelphia, and three grandchildren.

A funeral service is scheduled for 1 p.m. Friday at the Riverside Memorial Chapel, Amsterdam Ave. and 76th St.

Services will be 3 p.m. Saturday in the Defenbaugh Funeral Home with the Rev. John Morgan officiating. Burial will be in Jackson Twp. Cemetery. Friends may call beginning noon Friday.

foreign minister Willy Brandt and President Heinrich Lübke were "constructive and helpful, exactly what they should have been."

Humphrey's schedule included a speech in the City Assembly, a meeting with Mayor Heinrich Albertz, a visit to the American community area, a short tour of the city, a castle reception and an evening reception by the U. S. German Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Albertz called on West Berlin to give a traditional welcome to the vice president.

About 100 persons demonstrated Wednesday against the war in Vietnam on a roadway leading to the U.S. Embassy in Bad Godesburg, outside Bonn.

Humphrey was eight miles away at the time conferring with West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger.

Humphrey's talks with Kiesinger ended with toasts to German-American friendship at a dinner in the vice president's honor Wednesday night. Kiesinger declared that "the clouds have passed" in the relations between Bonn and Washington.

Kidnapers Return Boy Unharmed

Financier's Son Released after Ransom Payment

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A Beverly Hills financier described today how his 11-year-old son was kidnaped without a hitch, then returned unharmed after a large ransom was paid.

Herbert J. Young, 35, president of Gibraltar Savings and Loan Association, said $250,000 ransom was asked for his son Kenneth, but he did not disclose the amount paid.

Kenneth was bound and blindfolded early today in a car parked in an apartment house garage in nearby Santa Monica. After obeying instructions to wait for a half-hour, he worked loose and ran to the nearest apartment to call his parents. He had been missing since early Monday.

The FBI said the kidnapers picked up the ransom Wednesday in Westwood a few miles from Beverly Hills and were at large.

A maid discovered Kenneth's empty bed Monday morning and took Young a note she found warning him not to call the police and describing how to turn over $250,000 for the boy's return.

"As soon as we read that note, my wife and I agreed that the thing to do was to call the police immediately," Young recalled. The family and authorities maintained the secret while scores of policemen and FBI agents went to work.

Dressed in a blue polo shirt, black slacks and a tan windbreaker, dragging on a cigarette occasionally, the slightly graying Young sat back in a wicker chair in a spacious room.

"I had half a dozen phone calls Monday but the party at the other end never spoke to me," he said. "Last night I did as the letter said and drove to the phone booth. The call came at 6 p.m. and the man said, 'are you Herbert?'"

"He spoke in a slow, soft voice. He sounded very intelligent. I then drove to the gas station and waited beside my car. About 45 minutes later a white Chevy Impala slowed down right in front of the station. The individual motioned me to follow him."

Young followed the man's car to a clear gravel area. The man asked for the bag.

"He had his left hand free but his right hand was in his jacket. I didn't know if he was armed. I gave him the bag. Then I came back home."

"The next call was about 4 a.m. Kenny was on the phone and said he had been drugged with three sleeping pills and was in a man's apartment in Santa Monica. Then a man came to the phone and said, 'I have your son here; he's fine, but he's tired.'"

A jury was seated Wednesday afternoon and testimony began in a civil suit in which Margie Rose, 591 N. Court St., is asking $75,000 in damages for injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Defendant in the action is Donald P. Goeller, 306 E. Mound St.

Members of the jury are Richard Valentine, Clarice Farmer, Russell Newhouse, Helen O'Day, Orville Ruh, John R. Taylor, Elpha Wilson, Claude Wright, Lawrence Thornton, Alice Neff, Franklin T. Riddle, Janice T. Rittinger. The alternate juror is W. E. Essick.

The accident occurred in Circleville Dec. 8, 1963.

Market Gain Is Moderate

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market held a moderate gain on balance early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active. The market rose from the start but softness in a number of blue chips kept the averages from showing much of a gain. In the over-all list, however, gainers outnumbered losers by more than a two-to-one ratio. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.17 at 862.36.

Analysts said inflationary overtones were involved in President Johnson's recommendations for a postal rate increase and a federal employee pay raise. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 319.9 with industrials, rails and utilities each up .6.

Washington Man Hurt in Mishap

Marvin Russell Seymore, 29, Washington C. H., was injured when he lost control of his car on wet pavement on Route 62 two miles north of Mt. Sterling 2:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Mischa Elman Suffers Fatal Heart Attack

Famed Violinist Made American Debut in 1908

NEW YORK (AP)—After 70 years as a master of the violin, Mischa Elman told an interviewer: "I don't have the right to let my admirers down. And so I practice every day. It is the duty of every artist to do so."

Wednesday — the day he died — began much like every other day for the 76-year-old roly-poly and pink-faced man who had played more than 5,000 concerts — reputedly a world record for an instrumentalist.

Elman and his accompanist, Joseph Seiger, rehearsed for the customary three hours, preparing for concerts scheduled for the fall and for next year.

Then the artist — who refused to retire and who said he was "concerned with the present and therefore with the future" — left his Central Park West duplex apartment to have lunch.

Late in the afternoon he returned to the apartment, where his wife was in an upstairs bedroom recovering from a foot fracture. A maid was the only other person there.

Elman, stricken with a heart attack, called to his wife that he was unable to breathe. She summoned a doctor, but attempts to revive Elman with oxygen were fruitless.

Thus ended a career that began in his native Russia, where Elman first took up the violin at the age of 4, and that carried him to concert stages on every continent.

Last January, after an extended tour of Europe, he toured the West Coast. His last New York appearance was on Jan. 17 at Carnegie Hall.

Elman played his 5,000th concert last June 30 at Lewisohn Stadium in New York. It brought a letter from President Johnson, which began: "What a marvelous milestone!"

He made his American debut in 1908, at the age of 17.

In 1925, Elman married Helen Frances Katten of San Francisco. Besides his widow, he leaves a son, Joseph, an actor in Hollywood; a daughter, Nadia, the wife of Mel Mack of San Francisco; two sisters, Misses Liza and Esther Elman, music teachers in Philadelphia, and three grandchildren.

A funeral service is scheduled for 1 p.m. Friday at the Riverside Memorial Chapel, Amsterdam Ave. and 76th St.

Punta Del Este Will Be Focus Of Red Activity

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—Acting on orders from Havana, the Uruguayan Communists are waging a noisy propaganda campaign against President Johnson and his summit conference with Latin American leaders next week.

Tight security measures are expected to restrict the Red activity to a lot of shouting well away from the conference April 12-14 at the coastal resort of Punta del Este.

The Communists plan a 90-mile mass march from Montevideo to Punta del Este and a 24-hour general strike April 12, but informed sources said their chances of disrupting the conference are virtually nil.

foreign minister Willy Brandt and President Heinrich Lübke were "constructive and helpful, exactly what they should have been."

Humphrey's schedule included a speech in the City Assembly, a meeting with Mayor Heinrich Albertz, a visit to the American community area, a short tour of the city, a castle reception and an evening reception by the U. S. German Chamber of Commerce.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was like holding a wet finger up in the air to see which way the wind was blowing when President Johnson sent Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on a good-will mission to Europe.

He found that some of the wind could have been catastrophic. For what almost happened to Humphrey might have turned out far worse than the roughing up Vice President Richard M. Nixon got on his Latin-American tour in 1958.

Johnson himself has not visited Europe as President. This caused some wondering about his concern for relations with the Allies, a relationship which has deteriorated a bit.

Since President John F. Kennedy, with even less time in the White House than Johnson, made two European trips, Johnson's staying at home was even more noticeable.

But Johnson has had the Vietnam war to handle the worry about and keep him busy. No doubt his official receptions would have been cordial — but perhaps not hearty, because of some dissatisfaction in Europe over the U. S. role in Vietnam.

Just because there is dissatisfaction there was no assurance that any Johnson trip through the streets of Europe would not be hectic, molested, or even violent.

And if Johnson were mistreated, or worse, this country's European relationship might be wrecked. So, as time passed, Johnson had a lot to think about before going abroad. Humphrey went.

He left March 26, visited one capital after another, had a more or less pleasant journey, argued with the British Parliament in private about Vietnam, handled himself well and got a few jeers.

He ran into some long-haired demonstrators in Holland, had his car pelted with eggs in Florence, but otherwise seemed to be coming through all right until Wednesday in West Berlin.

There the police announced they had seized 11 extremists involved in a bomb plot against "the life or health" of Humphrey on his scheduled visit to the city today.

The extremists didn't represent the German people, but they were a menace and there are probably bands of them in every city in Europe where Johnson might have gone if he instead of Humphrey, had made this trip.

At this writing it isn't clear whether the group arrested in Berlin was anti-American because of Vietnam or anti-American because of some ideology or whether they were agents of some government set loose to cause chaos.

But there are so many nuts loose in the world the same thing might have happened here if the queen of England visited the United States or French President Charles de Gaulle came over.

Yet, this grisly possibility or the more nearly actual scheme against Humphrey will probably

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was like holding a wet finger up in the air to see which way the wind was blowing when President Johnson sent Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on a good-will mission to Europe.

He found that some of the wind could have been catastrophic. For what almost happened to Humphrey might have turned out far worse than the roughing up Vice President Richard M. Nixon got on his Latin-American tour in 1958. Johnson himself has not visited Europe as President. This caused some wondering about his concern for relations with the Allies, a relationship which has deteriorated a bit.

Since President John F. Kennedy, with even less time in the White House than Johnson, made two European trips, Johnson's staying at home was even more noticeable.

But Johnson has had the Vietnam war to handle the worry about and keep him busy. No doubt his official receptions would have been cordial — but perhaps not hearty, because of some dissatisfaction in Europe over the U. S. role in Vietnam.

Just because there is dissatisfaction there was no assurance that any Johnson trip through the streets of Europe would not be hectic, molested, or even violent.

And if Johnson were mistreated, or worse, this country's European relationship might be wrecked. So, as time passed, Johnson had a lot to think about before going abroad. Humphrey went.

He left March 26, visited one capital after another, had a more or less pleasant journey, argued with the British Parliament in private about Vietnam, not deter heads of state from traveling abroad.

That there will be a disaster from one of these visits eventually seems inevitable since, violence and irresponsibility have become two chauffeurs of civilization.

When Nixon went to Latin America in 1958 he was the target of violent, allegedly Communist-inspired, anti-American demonstrations in Peru and Venezuela, and lesser outbursts by university students in Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay, and Colombia.

At Caracas, Venezuela, mobs with rocks and sticks attacked Nixon's automobile, smashed its windows and tried to drag the vice president and his wife out of the car.

In 1960 President Dwight D. Eisenhower had to cancel a trip to Japan because of the anti-American riots there and threats of worse ones if he went.

Tariff Negotiations Lag

Four years ago the United States entered into one of the most far-reaching series of world trade talks in its history. The Kennedy Round tariff negotiations which have been going on in Geneva ever since soon will come to a close. But no one knows what the outcome will be.

For most of the four years that the 50 signatories to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade have been discussing their sixth "round" of tariff cuts, the Common Market countries and one or two others have managed to stall progress to the point the June 30 deadline on U. S. participation may come before agreements have been reached.

If that happens, the U. S. will not be a party to the tariff negotiations, nor will it be bound by any resulting treaties. Little time remains for agreements to be ratified. Because of a procedural delay, the pact must be ratified shortly after the end of March to make formal adoption by June 30 possible.

U. S. authorization to proceed with the trade agreement expires on June 30. It is unlikely to be extended because the sentiment in Congress is that if an agreement with, what is the use of extending discussions a few more months, or even years?

What the United States has discovered in the trade talks is that the Common Market countries, although represented by a single negotiator, do not speak with one voice.

Although the specific progress of the talks has been kept secret, it is known that each point had to be considered individually by each of the six Common Market members. The effect was something like a round robin within a 50-sided debate.

There is yet time for the Kennedy Round to come to a productive conclusion. But if the deadline is not met, it will not be because the U. S. failed to live up to the administration's desire to volunteer the largest slice of pie.

Republican Unity

How real is Republican "unity"? Has the law enunciated by Dr. Gaylor Parkinson in California — "Thou shalt not speak ill of any other Republican" — become the new G.O.P. watchword? Or is the purge spirit still working in the depths, with "Goldwaterites" and "moderates" waiting to hack each other to death as the time of the 1968 primaries grows closer?

The situation, as it now seems, is in a state of flux, and evidence can be found to sustain either contention. The people who think "unity" is winning can point to the 1966 performance of Chairman Ray Bliss of the Republican National Committee, who, to his great credit, didn't have to wait upon the Ronald Reagan victory in California to stop shooting at conservatives. Wherever Bliss could moderate the factional spirit, the Republicans won significant victories for both conservative and "moderate" candidates. But where factionalism hung on, as in the State of Connecticut, the Republicans took a terrible pasting.

In the aftermath, Bliss seems to have made his point even in Connecticut. Searle Pinney, the boss of the Connecticut Republican State Committee, did his best between 1964 and 1966 to rid his party of anyone who had really worked hard for Goldwater. But when the returns were in last November, Pinney's candidates were mostly out. Meanwhile, John Lupton, who had headed the pro-Goldwater Republican Citizens' Committee and earned Pinney's contempt for it, was elected to the State legislature after beating a Pinney candidate in a primary. The point is that Lupton would have worked just as hard in 1964 for Scranton or Rockefeller if the Republican choice at San Francisco had been different. It was Pinney, not Lupton, who could be accused of carrying on a vendetta. After the 1966 shelling, however, Pinney gracefully stepped down, and the Connecticut Republicans are now squared away on a harmony kick that seems promising.

But if unity seems to be gaining in most quarters, the news has not yet reached certain members of the National Federation of Republican Women. By precedent, the first vice president of the Republican Women normally succeeds to the presidency when that post is vacated. But this year the Federation's nominating committee passed over the first vice president, Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly of Atton, Illinois, and picked Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell of Long Beach, California, as its recommended presidential candidate.

The conservatives in the National Federation argue that only the purge split would have led the nominating committee to overlook Mrs. Schlafly's claims to the succession. Mrs. O'Donnell is a "moderate," whereas Mrs. Schlafly fought hard for Barry Goldwater in 1964. If it were the other way around, so the conservatives insist, the nominating committee would not have dreamed of overturning the time-hallowed tradition that the first vice president of the Federation always moves up. Tempers in the Women's Federation are now running high, and there could be a vicious floor fight for the presidency at the May 5

Wife-Waiting Time Fillers

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals to men is waiting for women.

It is particularly to husbands, who sometimes figure they spend the greater part of their married life waiting for their wives to do something or to get ready to go somewhere.

Actually, however, it isn't that bad. If a man is kept waiting by his wife for an average of only an hour a day, by the time of his golden wedding anniversary he will have wasted only two full years of his life in this manner.

Of course, a fellow could get a lot of constructive things done in two years. For example, he could:

1. Read the Harvard five-foot shelf of books forwards—and backwards.
2. Build a houseboat in the back yard.
3. Take a correspondence course and fit himself for a better job.
4. Learn how to become a pool shark.
5. Raise enough chinchillas in the basement to make his wife the most expensive fur coat in the neighborhood.

But since his waiting is spread over so many years, it usually results in nothing more productive than an ulcer.

The whole situation has its odd aspects. If a guy is courting a dame and she is late for a date, she apologizes all over the place.

And she doesn't keep him waiting the least bit, ordinarily, when he proposes. Her "yes" comes with such a breeze that he is likely to catch a cold.

But once women are married they start playing the waiting game. Not just this wife. Not just that wife. Not some wives. All wives.

They seem to feel that every time they keep their husband waiting it wins them another merit badge in heaven. Either that or it's their subconscious revenge on him for waiting too long to propose.

If you are going to the supermarket for a wife, she will keep you waiting while she mulls over whether you should get two cans of dog food or three.

If you are supposed to meet her at a downtown corner, you can wait through three changes of climate before she shows up, cheerful as a guilt-free cherub.

If you are ready to go to a party at 7 p.m., she is still daubing goo on her face at 8 p.m.

If you are ready to leave the party at 7 p.m., she is still daubing goo on her face at 8 p.m.

If you are ready to leave the party at 11 p.m., you are still holding the door open at midnight while she and her hostess exchange goodbye gossip.

There is simply no limit to the ways a wife can keep a husband waiting. Even if she tells him he is going to be a father, he must wait for the better part of a year for her to make good on her promise. A mother kangaroo can perform the same feat in less than six weeks, a mother raccoon in two months, a mother rabbit in a month, and a mother opossum in 12½ days.

No matter for what reason a wife keeps her husband waiting, there is no way for him to hurry her up, though he whine, plead, groan, grovel threaten or just sit there and sigh and whimper.

NFRW convention in Washington. Mrs. Schlafly's sin is that she has not used circumlocutions when she speaks of "eastern kingmakers" in the Republican Party. The mother of six children, and a terrifically hard worker, she believes in accentuating the positive as she goes about her duties. The "moderates" resented the searing intensity of her support of the Goldwater ticket. But she has always been rigorously honest in being a Republican first and a conservative second. Mrs. Kat Hoffman of Rockford, Illinois, president of the largest club in the Illinois Republican Women's Federation, says that Mrs. Schlafly's work for party unity was the "principal reason we were able to pull Republicans together in a united effort with Chuck Percy at the top of the ticket." This must be considered heroic on Mrs. Schlafly's part, for last summer the more bitter Republican conservatives in Illinois were still referring to Chuck Percy as "an echo, not a choice."

If the Republican women split apart, Ray Bliss's "unity" campaign could easily founder. For when it comes to activity at the polls, it is women who do the dog work, and no party can win if its women are hacking at each other more than they are hacking at the enemy.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN WOODROW WILSON was campaigning for President in 1912, he made a whistle stop at Hannibal, Mo., and being a great admirer of Mark Twain, slipped away from his entourage to wander for a bit among the boyhood haunts of the famous humorist.

Accosting a native, he asked, "Do you know where Tom Sawyer lived?" "Never heard of him," was the answer. "Well, how about Huck Finn?" persisted Wilson. "Never heard of him nuther," declared the native.

Wilson made one more try. "How about Pudd'n-head Wilson?" he inquired. The native's face brightened. "I heard of him, all right," he said cheerfully. "In fact, I may even vote for the darn fool."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

Do you recommend a sunlamp and is it of any value to health? Does it dry the skin as much as sunlight?

Mrs. L.E.J., W. Virginia Dear Mrs. J.: A sunlamp gives out ultraviolet rays which have the sun-burning effect of mid-summer sunlight. These rays can produce redness, burning and pigmentation of the skin if they are used without moderation.

There are many medical reasons for exposing the skin to the ultraviolet rays of sunlamps. Acne of the face is benefited when the lamp is used in addition to all the other known ways of treating this skin disorder. It is even said that these rays can keep certain bacteria in check.

Some people react poorly to the direct sunlight and find that their skin becomes dry, cracked or peeled. These same people would probably have the identical effect from a sunlamp.

There seems to be important psychological value to a sunlamp. The tanning effect gives any people a bouncy feeling of well-being. Many enjoy the mid-winter tan when the indoor saloon is covered.

An important note of warning must be made to everyone who buys a sunlamp. Begin exposure to ultraviolet rays very slowly and build up the time by adding 15 seconds to each daily dose. Be sure to cover the eyes with protective coverings or cotton to prevent burns of the conjunctiva or lining of the eyes.

Many good sunlamps are equipped with an automatic safety device which rings a bell after a set time and may even shut off the lamp. This is most important because many people, warmed by the lamp, fall asleep under it and can be severely burned.

A gas which comes out of the quartz sunlamp has a tendency to cause drowsiness. If a safety device is not on the lamp be sure and have somebody watch you to be certain that you are

Wife-Waiting Time Fillers

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals to men is waiting for women.

It is particularly to husbands, who sometimes figure they spend the greater part of their married life waiting for their wives to do something or get ready to go somewhere.

Actually, however, it isn't that bad. If a man is kept waiting by his wife for an average of only an hour a day, by the time of his golden wedding anniversary he will have wasted only two full years of his life in this manner.

Of course, a fellow could get a lot of constructive things done in two years. For example, he could:

1. Read the Harvard five-foot shelf of books forwards—and backwards.
2. Build a houseboat in the back yard.
3. Take a correspondence course and fit himself for a better job.
4. Learn how to become a pool shark.
5. Raise enough chinchillas in the basement to make his wife the most expensive fur coat in the neighborhood.

But since his waiting is spread over so many years, it usually results in nothing more productive than an ulcer.

The whole situation has its odd aspects. If a guy is courting a dame and she is late for a date, she apologizes all over the place.

And she doesn't keep him waiting the least bit, ordinarily, when he proposes. Her "yes" comes with such a breeze that he is likely to catch a cold.

But once women are married they start playing the waiting game. Not just this wife. Not just that wife. Not some wives. All wives.

They seem to feel that every time they keep their husband waiting it wins them another merit badge in heaven. Either that or it's their subconscious revenge on him for waiting too long to propose.

If you are going to the supermarket for a wife, she will keep you waiting while she mulls over whether you should get two cans of dog food or three.

If you are supposed to meet her at a downtown corner, you can wait through three changes of climate before she shows up, cheerful as a guilt-free cherub.

If you are ready to go to a party at 7 p.m., she is still daubing goo on her face at 8 p.m.

If you are ready to leave the party at 7 p.m., she is still daubing goo on her face at 8 p.m.

If you are ready to leave the party at 11 p.m., you are still holding the door open at midnight while she and her hostess exchange gossip.

There is simply no limit to the ways a wife can keep a husband waiting. Even if he tells him he is going to be a father, he must wait for the better part of a year for her to make good on her promise. A mother kangaroo can perform the same feat in less than six weeks, a mother raccoon in two months, a mother rabbit in a month, and a mother opossum in 12½ days.

No matter for what reason a wife keeps her husband waiting, there is no way for him to hurry her up, though he whine, plead, groan, grovel threaten or just sit there and sigh and whimper.

Housewife Is Winning Florida Grocers' War

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Remember the housewives' rebellion against supermarkets last fall? Well, their chain took the ladies at their word and now the grocery stores in southern Florida are at war with each other. The housewife is coming out a winner.

Eighty-eight stores in the Winn-Dixie chain today rounded out a week in a no-stamps, no-gimmicks marketing experiment featuring only lower prices. The boss said it is a success.

"There's not a chance in the world we will return to stamps," said C. W. Waldorf, chief of the Vero Beach-to-Miami division.

Other chains have struck back with advertising campaigns, insisting they will have lower prices and stamps.

"Rest assured," said a one-page ad showing a pretty, smiling housewife resting her cheek on a stampbook. "We won't take away your stamps." Another ad proclaims that stamps are "an American tradition."

But Waldorf said he isn't worried. "We have been surprised at the very few complaints we have received from giving up stamps."

Shoppers interviewed in the stores, most of which carry the name "Kwik-Chek," are also happy.

"I'll take money anytime," said Linda Thomas. Another housewife, carrying a pocket-size adding device, said she had saved almost a dollar on a $9 order.

Waldorf won't claim that kind of savings for every shopper. But he promises that the lower prices on all 7,000 items will be the same every day, not just on weekends.

For example, T-bone steaks came down 31 cents, a pound of bacon 11 cents, a can of applesauce 4 cents. Even prepackaged food with the price marked by the processor, such as potato chips or cookies, have been cut a penny or two. The old price is marked out.

Waldorf, 48, said he started thinking about the multimillion-dollar experiment when the housewives boycotted last fall

Teen-Agers Show They Can Do It

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP) — It all started eon an obnoxious hot day in August picking up beer bottles — and it has grown into a major civic project with a burst of teen-age energy and ideas.

And the teen-agers have done it themselves to improve their image in this small city — and build up civic pride by getting involved in civic affairs.

The teen-agers call it "The Teen Betterment Committee."

So far the results have included a partly reclaimed municipal park, a growing manpower pool of some of the best workers in the city, reduced vandalism and more ideas for projects than the city knows how to handle.

How do you explain it? "You don't," said Francis X. O'Connell of the State Division of Employment Security. "You're just thankful for it."

O'Connell is involved in the committee's current project, finding jobs for teen-agers. He has helped place 30 boys and 10 girls in part-time jobs and so far he says "they're working out just great."

"We're looking for things that might go wrong, too," he added. "Because teen-agers organized to find jobs for teen-agers is a new idea, and if there are any loopholes we want to find them. But I tell you these kids don't know how to quit. And, of course, they're filling a real need. We have a real labor shortage here."

Lawrence is an industrial city of 75,000 about 40 miles north of Boston.

The Teen Betterment Committee began late last summer when a community group in South Lawrence decided to tap teen-age energy to clear an abandoned city park.

The kids organized themselves with a minimum of adult supervision. More than 100 of them gave 900 hours to the project, reclaimed about two acres of the 17-acre billy, wooded park and filled 50 city dump trucks with a variety of trash.

They worked in the first week of August, the hottest week of the year, in three-hour shifts.

The city aldermen showed their gratitude for the two acres of park land by throwing a swim party for the teen-agers. Then the aldermen and the other Lawrence adults sat back to see what the committee would do next.

John Watson, 17, president of the committee, said, "We got the feeling that the adults were skeptical about us. They figured this was a one-time project. You know, teen-agers couldn't stay with anything productive for very long."

The first test came when the city moved benches and playground equipment into the reclaimed section of the park.

Vandals struck almost immediately, smashed some benches and threw trash around the grounds.

"Some of the boys went out to the park at night and waited for these guys to come back," Watson said, "and when they did the situation was taken care of."

The park has not been bothered by vandals since.

The use of water in cities and towns in the United States now averages about 155 gallons per day per person.

Chamber of Commerce Week

Career Guidance Aids Area Youth

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fourth in a series of informational stories concerning Chamber of Commerce Week, April 2-8. The Circleville Area Chamber theme for this year's observance is "Accent on Youth." A Chamber committee devoting a major portion of its effort toward young people is the education panel. Today's article, prepared by Alden D. Bray, offers a run-down on the committee's Career Guidance Directory.

Career Guidance Directories, prepared by the Chamber Education Committee, were distributed to guidance counselors and administrators of the Pickaway County and Circleville High Schools for use during the current school year.

This guide, containing the names of hundreds of local citizens, was designed to assist local educators in their difficult task of orienting high school students with respect to career planning.

Personnel listings are subdivided into three major categories for easy reference.

Under the caption "Speaker" are listed individuals who have agreed to prepare and deliver speeches pertaining to their specific trade, business or profession for school assemblies, seminar or class rooms.

"Counselors" are people willing to discuss all aspects of their specific vocation with individual high school students by appointment.

The category "career guidance field trips" pertains to field trip opportunities available

Cleveland Fears More Race Trouble To Come

EDITORS NOTE: There are plenty of rumors about Cleveland's racial situation and what will happen when the weather gets warm. Four were killed in rioting last year. Robert G. McGruder, a Cleveland Plain Dealer reporter, went into the area and talked to the residents. His conclusion: Many people are afraid.

By ROBERT G. McGRUDER
Cleveland Plain Dealer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Even very rational, very hopeful men and women believe Cleveland will be on fire this summer.

There is fear of what will happen and despair because no one really knows what to do.

"There's no point in talking about it," the young man said. "We've had too much talk. Besides, the newspapers won't tell it like it is anyway."

Another man, who was in the thick of the rioting last summer, added: "There's a new mood in the ghetto and a new breed. You got a lot of dudes here just waiting for it to happen."

"These young men ain't in school," he continued. "They don't have jobs. All they can do is sit around thinking and talking about Whitey, and summer, and the people on Murray Hill (a nearby white neighborhood) with the machine guns."

In the white neighborhoods, they said the Negroes are arming. In the Negro neighborhoods they said the whites are arming.

Police say both are arming. The Black Nationalists call themselves the only real spokesman for the poor and oppressed in the ghetto.

"Black people are tired of that beast (the white man) coming out here beating our men and insulting our women," said a Black Nationalist.

"We are tired of rats and roaches crawling over our children. We are tired of the garbage in the streets, the landlords, the police, the men who take the money out of the ghetto, and the white men who come in at night for our women and go back out to the Heights after some racist cop arrests the woman."

"We have been mistreated. There has to be retribution." The more conservative Negro leadership would say: "The vast majority of people realize that we have a long way to go. A few things have been done, but they only scratch the surface. There is a tremendous amount to be done, but not by violence."

Statistics issued recently by the U.S. Department of Labor state that the unemployment rate in slum areas in Cleveland is 15.6 per cent, highest in the nation.

Before the riots last year, the Cleveland subcommittee of the Ohio State Advisory Committee to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission said of Cleveland:

De facto segregation exists in the schools; quality of education in many of the ghetto schools is questionable; housing is segregated and inadequate, and the city has done a poorer job than most in correcting these conditions.

The reports said Negroes comprised 38 per cent of the population and 17 per cent of the work force.

The Negro areas look about as they did before last year's riot. There are vacant lots where there were stores and buildings, removed by "instant urban renewal." Other buildings have deteriorated. A few have been rehabilitated.

The kids still play in the street. The garbage is there, too, and the rats.

All the faults that contributed to last year's riot are here, including the feeling of alienation from the city.

CC League Plans Meeting Tonight

Child Culture League will meet 8 p. m. today in the home of Mrs. Pheris Kreiger, 380 Cedar Heights Road. An election of officers will be held.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Hubby's Problem May Be Cold Feet

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have not as yet reached middle age, but the romance has gone out of our marriage. A few nights ago we were out to a supper club. Came time to go home, the car was shivering cold, so I snuggled up close to him. He told me to turn on the heater. What would you have done?

COLD

DEAR COLD: I'd have turned on the heater.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who is in junior high school, came home and said she was asked to join a "club." Specifically it was the "HATE" — (another girl's name) — I pumped for all the information I could get. What had the girl done to deserve such treatment? Nothing! She was getting too popular.

Abby, this sounds like a Junior Ku Klux Klan.

Our daughter defended the club, saying if she didn't join, the members wouldn't speak to her. I said she ought to tell the principal. My wife says I am making a mountain out of a molehill — that this is the way all junior high school kids act. What do you think?

—LEXINGTON SOUGH

DEAR LEXINGTON: I think your daughter would be much better off if the members of the "club" didn't speak to her. She and the girl who would be persecuted for "getting too popular," should form their own club; they could call it "The Society To Ignore The Hate" — Club.

DEAR ABBY: We are two teen-age girls with a question we'd like to ask you. Is there a word which means more than "like" but is not such a big word as "love"? We know two boys we more than "like" — but "love" is too big a word to use.

TWO INBETWEENS

DEAR TWO: One may be pleased with, take pleasure in, be fond of, esteem, enjoy, fancy, prefer, adore, or just plain "like a person a lot," which is probably what you want to say. DEAR ABBY: You ask "How is the world treating you?" May we reply, "Very seldom."

Nobel Laureate Hermann Muller Succumbs at 76

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Dr. Hermann Joseph Muller, 76, Nobel prize winning geneticist, died Wednesday at Robert Long hospital.

Dr. Muller, who won the Nobel prize for medicine in 1946, had been hospitalized several months with a heart condition.

He was a distinguished service professor emeritus at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., having joined the faculty in 1945.

Muller won the Nobel Prize 19 years after he demonstrated that radiation, such as X-rays or those from atomic reactions can produce mutations — changes in the heredity controls of the body.

His research showed that most mutations are harmful and the resulting organisms finally die off.

In recent years, Dr. Muller led a crusade in warning against the dangers of the hereditary effects of all kinds of radiation. He warned these could produce genetic "time bombs" which could cause "untold cases of suffering and death in future generations of mankind."

6-Month Delay

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A defense lawyer estimates it may be six months before a date is set for the trial of Clay L. Shaw, 54-year-old retired executive charged with conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Top Highway Research Center Planned for Columbus Location

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — What is billed as the world's largest highway research center does not exist physically but has already produced a driverless car.

Construction plans for the $25 million Ohio Transportation Research Center are complete and research plans formulated, but not a foot of land has been bought.

Research at the site of the new center will begin this summer if all the land is purchased, according to Robert S. Tait, its executive director.

Meanwhile, scientists at Ohio State University, which will operate the center, are working at the Columbus campus on $2.7 million in highway research contracts. They have produced an automatic car which will operate without a driver. The conventional acceleration, brakes and steering of the car are replaced by a single stick.

Signals from a cable buried in the highway control the speed and position of all vehicles on the highway. Researchers hope to test this car without any driver this summer. It has been tried already with a driver aboard.

The center will study all three factors of the highway system—vehicle, road and human—making it unique in highway research.

The first appraisals of the 80 parcels of land composing the center are complete, and all the land should be purchased soon, permitting construction, according to James Roesch, administrative assistant of the university's office of business and finance.

"The center will provide facilities where we can conduct research of public roads in safety. Also, it provides a control environment where we can watch and experiment with the three highway factors," Tait said.

The highway research staff at Ohio State numbers 100 to 125 persons including 30 faculty, 60 to 70 graduate assistants and 25 to 35 technicians, laboratory assistants and clerical workers.

Tait said the new center will eventually have 500 to 1,000 transportation engineers, technicians, maintenance men and secretaries on the permanent staff.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have not as yet reached middle age, but the romance has gone out of our marriage. A few nights ago we were out to a supper club. Came time to go home, the car was shivering cold, so I snuggled up close to him. He told me to turn on the heater. What would you have done?

DEAR COLD: I'd have turned on the heater.
DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who is in junior high school, came home and said she was asked to join a "club." Specifically it was the "HATE" — (another girl's name) — I pumped for all the information I could get. What had the girl done to deserve such treatment? Nothing! She was getting too popular.
Abby, this sounds like a Junior Ku Klux Klan.

Our daughter defended the club, saying if she didn't join, the members wouldn't speak to her. I said she ought to tell the principal. My wife says I am making a mountain out of a molehill — that this is the way all junior high school kids act. What do you think?

—LEXINGTON SOUGH
DEAR LEXINGTON: I think your daughter would be much better off if the members of the "club" didn't speak to her. She and the girl who would be persecuted for "getting too popular," should form their own club; they could call it "The Society To Ignore The Hate — Club."

DEAR ABBY: We are two teen-age girls with a question we'd like to ask you. Is there a word which means more than "like" but is not such a big word as "love"? We know two boys we more than "like" — but "love" is too big a word to use.

TWO INBETWEENS
DEAR TWO: One may be pleased with, take pleasure in, be fond of, esteem, enjoy, fancy, prefer, adore, or just plain "like a person a lot," which is probably what you want to say.

DEAR ABBY: You ask "How is the world treating you?" May we reply, "Very seldom."

Nobel Laureate Hermann Muller Succumbs at 76

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Dr. Hermann Joseph Muller, 76, Nobel prize winning geneticist, died Wednesday at Robert Long hospital.

Dr. Muller, who won the Nobel prize for medicine in 1946, had been hospitalized several months with a heart condition.

He was a distinguished service professor emeritus at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., having joined the faculty in 1945.

Muller won the Nobel Prize 19 years after he demonstrated that radiation, such as X-rays or those from atomic reactions can produce mutations — changes in the heredity controls of the body.

His research showed that most mutations are harmful and the resulting organisms finally die off.

In recent years, Dr. Muller led a crusade in warning against the dangers of the hereditary effects of all kinds of radiation. He warned these could produce genetic "time bombs" which could cause "untold cases of suffering and death in future generations of mankind."

6-Month Delay

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A defense lawyer estimates it may be six months before a date is set for the trial of Clay L. Shaw, 54-year-old retired executive charged with conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Top Highway Research Center Planned for Columbus Location

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — What is billed as the world's largest highway research center does not exist physically but has already produced a driverless car.

Construction plans for the $25 million Ohio Transportation Research Center are complete and research plans formulated, but not a foot of land has been bought.

Research at the site of the new center will begin this summer if all the land is purchased, according to Robert S. Tait, its executive director.

Meanwhile, scientists at Ohio State University, which will operate the center, are working at the Columbus campus on $2.7 million in highway research contracts. They have produced an automatic car which will operate without a driver. The conventional acceleration, brakes and steering of the car are replaced by a single stick.

Signals from a cable buried in the highway control the speed and position of the car and are fed into a computer which controls the speed and position of all vehicles on the highway. Researchers hope to test this car without any driver this summer. It has been tried already with a driver aboard.

The center will study all three factors of the highway system—vehicle, road and human—making it unique in highway research.

Construction of the center half-way between Marysville and Bellefontaine — about 45 miles northwest of Columbus — will turn 5,000 acres of rolling farmland into a massive industrial research complex. It will include about 60 to 70 miles of highways—the equivalent of a city of 20,000—a twin-jet airport and probably many factories or research laboratories of transportation related industries.

Plans envision a single facility embracing research to develop and perfect new products and industry to manufacture those and related goods.

The first appraisals of the 80 parcels of land composing the center are complete, and all the land should be purchased soon, permitting construction, according to James Roesch, administrative assistant of the university's office of business and finance.

"The center will provide facilities where we can conduct research of public roads in safety. Also, it provides a control environment where we can watch and experiment with the three highway factors," Tait said.

The highway research staff at Ohio State numbers 100 to 125 persons including 30 faculty, 60 to 70 graduate assistants and 25 to 35 technicians, laboratory assistants and clerical workers.

Tait said the new center will eventually have 500 to 1,000 transportation engineers, technicians, maintenance men and secretaries on the permanent staff.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Governor of Ohio and the West German ambassador to the United States are scheduled to get honorary degrees from the University of Cincinnati.
Gov. James A. Rhodes and Ambassador Sigismund Von Braun, a UC alumnus, both will receive doctor of laws degrees, the university board of directors announced Tuesday. Rhodes will get the degree April 20 at the UC Day banquet and Von Braun on May 12 at the ROTC Day review.

Gets Job Removing Snow in Florida

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — After Harold Rathfoot of Lansing retired as chief maintenance engineer of the Michigan highway department, he planned to move to his retirement home at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Before he moved he received a telegram from Rolfe Mickler, assistant Florida highway engineer, announcing Rathfoot's appointment as chief consultant on snow removal in Florida.

Mickler said, "the work will not be heavy. You will not even be asked to submit an expense account."

Peru's President Says Jungles Must Be Tamed

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peru's president sees the jungles of South America as one answer to finding more land to meet the hunger of exploding populations. It can be done, President Fernando Belaunde Terry says, by making the most of such things as a new highway skirting the western fringes of the Amazon basin. He considers this a top-priority project in what he calls the task of our time — development of the "South American heartland" on the east side of the Andes.

He is bound to push this idea,

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Today is Thursday, April 6, the 96th day of 1967. There are 269 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1917, the House of Representatives approved a Senate-passed resolution declaring war on Germany. President Woodrow Wilson then signed the declaration at the White House.

On this date: In 1830, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, better known as the Mormon Church, was organized at Fayette, N.Y.

In 1893, the longest bout in sports history was found in New Orleans by Andy Bowen and Jack Burke. Referee Jack Duffy stopped the fight in the 110th round and declared it no contest.

In 1909, Robert Peary, with Matt Henson and four eskimos, reached the North Pole and planted the American flag at the spot sought by explorers for almost a century.

In 1941, Nazi armies started in 1942, Japanese troops landed on the island of Bougainville. Their invasion of Greece and Yugoslavia.

Ten years ago — Electric trolley car service in New York became a thing of the past as buses took over the service which had been started more than 69 years earlier.

Five years ago — Three workers digging the tunnel through Mount Blanc on the French-Italian border were killed in an avalanche.

One year ago — Opera star Maria Callas gave up her American citizenship in an attempt to solve her marital and financial problems.

Go 'Way, Buddy, You Bother Me!

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Police say that when a man armed with a pistol walked into a bar recently and announced a holdup, the bartender and a waitress ignored him. When the gunman again said he was holding up the place, the bartender disarmed him and sent him on his way.

whenever he gets the chance, at the summit meeting of him-spheric chiefs of state next week in Punta del Este, Uruguay.

The new road, called the carretera marginal or marginal highway because of its route, will connect with similar highways in Ecuador and Bolivia.

The Andes Mountains, some of their peaks dwarfing anything in North America or Europe, run virtually all the way down South America's west coast. They extend inland about 300 miles, and have been a barrier to commerce and development in the tropical interiors of the three countries.

Belaunde, in a statement to

The Associated Press, said the highway will help create on the east side of the Andes "a new environment rejuvenated by modern medicine, energy and transportation."

"Along the east side of the Andes," Belaunde said, "from Maracaibo in Venezuela to Santa Cruz in Bolivia, energy, fuel and oil for industrial purposes, refrigeration and dehydration are assured by large water resources, natural gas deposits and oil fields."

"This is the area which will be tapped by the marginal highway."

Peru's 1,000-mile link in the highway is scheduled for completion in 1979. The planned cost of $172 million is being put up by the U.S. Export-Import Bank and the Peruvian government. Peruvian officials say expenditures are constantly rising and the final cost will exceed the original estimate.

While emphasizing the highway, Belaunde finds that air transport should be promoted in underdeveloped areas initially. Under the philosophy "the airplane before the truck," the Pruvian leader observed:

"First, we build an airstrip in the jungle."

"Around the airstrip we create a viable economic base by taking out products by plane and bringing in tools and machines needed for expansion."

"Later, when a road is connected with the airstrip area, the trucks will come and everyone will realize new riches."

Belaunde said that tropical regions of the world are "changing from unhealthy areas to places for mental and physical rest and relaxation."

He singled out Miami, Fla., where he once lived. As an example of a "swampy and uninhabitable area at the turn of the century" that was transformed into a garden spot. This was accomplished, he said, in a climate "not superior to our high South American jungle."

With modern advances in technology and medicine, Belaunde declared, "the phenomenon which occurred in the 'magic city' of Miami can and must be realized in all tropical regions of the world."

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Viewers could see for themselves Wednesday night that the base of the performers' union strike against the three major networks had broadened.

In the afternoon other craft unions of the broadcasting industry agreed to support the strike by refusing to cross picket lines. First to be affected was NBC, and the results were evident on the network's dinnertime news programs, both on its local New York roundup and Chet Huntley's half-hour network program. "Management personnel," as Huntley called them in his report on new developments, were obviously handling the switches and buttons in the absence of the regular technicians, and things were not going smoothly.

At times there was no sound at all, even on the commercials. At another time the picture was lost. Then Huntley's voice was heard describing a news story at a time when the picture on the screen was the windup of the commercial.

CBS's special comedy program, reuniting Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner and Howard Morris of the old "Your Show of Shows" was an hour of bright fun, and a reassurance that those old programs were as amusing as we remember they were.

Miss Coca and Caesar were funny and witty in some hand-tailored sketches including an elaborate spoof of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and a short sketch about two American tourists meeting in Paris.

NBC News in its "Crossroads in Space" Wednesday night presented an awesome assemblage of facts and figures about the size and "staggering cost" of activities by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and also much sharp criticism.

Frank McGee, narrating and commenting, stated that the program to put Americans on the moon under the current 1970 deadline will cost nearly $24 billion, traced the expansion of the agency, and along the way called attention to specific instances of vast and sometimes curious expenditures.

He criticized the NASA policy of building at least two of everything and noted also a policy of developing plans and projects only to turn them over to private industry to make a profit. He suggested on two occasions that locations and projects appeared to have been dictated by political considerations among others.

"Clearly," he concluded, "some changes should be made."

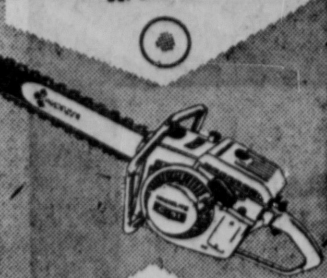

It was a concise and important television program, and a disturbing one for the taxpayer. Recommended tonight: "A Time for Laughter," ABC, 10-11 EST, tracing a century of Negro humor, with Harry Belafonte, Diahann Carroll and other Negro entertainment stars.

Oscar Special Citation Goes to Yakima Canutt

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I'll go to the Oscars in a tuxedo, but I'll be darned if they'll get me in a set of tails."

This was the initial comment by Yakima Canutt upon learning that he was to be presented with a special Academy Award Monday night.

The citation to be read by Canutt's good friend Charlton Heston: "For creating the profession of stuntman as it exists today and for the development of many safety devices used by stuntmen everywhere."

The average citizen might wonder why the prestigious academy would be rewarding a stuntman. Movie buffs know why. They recognize Yakima as a Western star of the 1920s, later a fearless, imaginative stuntman, and more recently the director of action sequences in such films as "Ben-Hur," and epics, has cited good reason for "El Cid."

Heston, who performed under Yak's honor:

"In the old days stuntmen were a disorganized bunch who could take a chance on anything. A lot of them got killed that way. Yakima came along and reduced stunt work to a science. He could do greater stunts than anyone else because he developed ways of doing them safely."

Despite his concern over wearing tails at the Oscar ceremony, Canutt expressed pleasure at the honorary award.

"It's a pretty wonderful thing," he commented. "It shows that somebody pays attention to what's up there on the screen." He promised "the shortest speech in my life."

Still erect and firm-muscled at 71, Canutt is a man of action, not words. This has been true since his days as a rodeo star. His prowess as national champion attracted movie interest and he was enlisted as a Western performer.

"I was a pretty lousy actor," he admitted, "but I did star in 48 five-reelers that went pretty well."

When his starring career faded, he switched to heroics for name performers. Among his most memorable: riding through burning Atlanta as Clark Gable in "Gone With the Wind," and halting the runaway team as John Wayne in "Stagecoach."

Yakima's stunt career came to a close at 50 when he broke both ankles in a fall for Roy Rogers. He figured it was time to quit. Starting as a director of Republic Westerns, he became a specialist in action scenes for such films as "Ivanhoe," "Knights of the Round Table," "Helen of Troy," "Mogambo," "Fall of the Roman Empire," "Cat Ballou," and "Khartoum." Canutt is Scandinavian and his real first name is Enos. He actually hails from Colfax, Wash., and drew his present name when mistaken for a member of the Yakima rodeo team.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Viewers could see for themselves Wednesday night that the base of the performers' union strike against the three major networks had broadened.
In the afternoon other craft unions of the broadcasting industry agreed to support the strike by refusing to cross picket lines. First to be affected was NBC, and the results were evident on the network's dinner-

time news programs, both on its local New York roundup and Chet Huntley's half-hour network program. "Management personnel," as Huntley called them in his report on new developments, were obviously handling the switches and buttons in the absence of the regular technicians, and things were not going smoothly.

At times there was no sound at all, even on the commercials. At another time the picture was lost. Then Huntley's voice was heard describing a news story at a time when the picture on the screen was the windup of the commercial.

CBS's special comedy program, reuniting Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner and Howard Morris of the old "Your Show of Shows" was an hour of bright fun, and a reassurance that those old programs were as amusing as we remember they were.

Miss Coca and Caesar were funny and witty in some hand-tailored sketches including an elaborate spoof of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and a short sketch about two American tourists meeting in Paris.

NBC News in its "Crossroads in Space" Wednesday night presented an awesome assemblage of facts and figures about the size and "staggering cost" of activities by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and also much sharp criticism.

Frank McGee, narrating and commenting, stated that the program to put Americans on the moon under the current 1970 deadline will cost nearly $24 billion, traced the expansion of the agency, and along the way called attention to specific instances of vast and sometimes curious expenditures.

He criticized the NASA policy of building at least two of everything and noted also a policy of developing plans and projects only to turn them over to private industry to make a profit. He suggested on two occasions that locations and projects appeared to have been dictated by political considerations among others.

"Clearly," he concluded, "some changes should be made."

It was a concise and important television program, and a disturbing one for the taxpayer. Recommended tonight: "A Time for Laughter," ABC, 10-11 EST, tracing a century of Negro humor, with Harry Belafonte, Diahann Carroll and other Negro entertainment stars.

Governors Are Offered 'Hot Lines'

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Gov. John Dempsey said Wednesday the nation's governors were being offered special telephones to receive emergency communications from the President of the United States.
"This is a Civil Defense measure," Dempsey said at a news conference.
He released a letter from State Civil Defense Director William L. Schatzman which said the equipment "provides a means to disseminate Civil Defense increased readiness information and an attack warning message directly to the chief executives of the states."

"The only time this equipment is to be turned on," said Schatzman, "is when we get a message from the federal authorities, possibly an hour before the President will talk to the governors."
"The governors will not be able to use these phones to talk to one another," Schatzman said notification of the telephone system has come from the Office of Civil Defense in the Department of the Army.

The purpose, said Schatzman, is so "you would have communications with other governors and the President of the United States if and when the President would want to speak simultaneously to all state governors in an emergency."

Ohio Legislature

Bill To Speed Up Count In Election Introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill designed to end Ohio's reputation as a "slow count" state on election nights was called to the House floor today but faced bumpy if not rough sledding.

Rep. Robert I. Evans R-31 Coshocton sponsored the bill which would require election boards to post results of races for president, vice president, governor and U.S. congressman outside polling places as soon as tabulated.

The two major wire services and three nationwide television-broadcast networks comprising the News Election Service supported the measure along with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

But some members of the House Government Operations committee attacked it bitterly on grounds it is "special interest" legislation and that fast counting of votes in Midwest and Eastern states might influence balloting on the West Coast where results would be coming in while polls still were open.

Rep. Car B. Stokes D-44 Cleveland, Cuyahoga was among committee opponents and he and other House members said they planned to carry their fight to the House floor. Members from both parties expressed opposition and support so the bill appeared to be one that would live or die on the merits of debate.

As the House prepared for a showdown, Rep. Charles Fry R-9 Clark introduced a bill that would require voting machines at all Ohio polling places by 1977. His measure would give counties of 40,000 or more population until 1970 to comply, those of 30,000-40,000 until 1973, and those with less than 30,000 until Jan. 1, 1977.

Fry said his measure would nearly double the 10,000 machines now used in 21 counties. Cost was estimated at $16 million.

Fry's bill was among about a dozen introduced as the two chambers held routine floor sessions. The Senate completed passage of a measure permitting the sale of 10-ounce cartons of milk now restricted to 16-ounce and 8-ounce containers in quantities less than quarts.

Sen. Tennyson Guyer R-2 Hancock said the bill would bring Ohio in line with a trend in other states. He added that it was supported by the National Conference on Weights and Measures and the Ohio Dairy Products Association, among others.

Also passed by the upper chamber was an emergency bill appropriating slightly more than $1 million to pay sundry claims against the state, which cannot be sued. Sen. Robert R. Shaw R-16 Columbus, Senate finance chairman, said the claims bill was introduced earlier than usual and with an immediately effective emergency clause to pay claims to some persons "who have been waiting two years or more for their money."

Introduced were proposals that would create an Ohio land commission to provide for a system of inventory and sale of state land; liberalize teacher

Thant Fears War's Spread

GENEVA AP — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said Wednesday there is an increasing danger the war in Vietnam may extend beyond its borders.

Addressing a luncheon of the foreign correspondents in Geneva, Thant said "prospects for peace in Vietnam today are as distant as they were a year ago."

"I may also add that because of the increasing intensification of the war there is a greater danger today of the conflict widening into a larger war going beyond the frontiers of Vietnam."

Thant came to Geneva for consultations with the administration of the U.N. European headquarters. He is scheduled to leave this weekend for Ceylon and a tour through Asia.

He said North Vietnam's attitude has made it virtually impossible for the United Nations to continue any active mediation in the conflict.

Bill To Speed Up Count In Election Introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill designed to end Ohio's reputation as a "slow count" state on election nights was called to the House floor today but faced bumpy if not rough sledding.

Rep. Robert I. Evans R-31 Coshocton sponsored the bill which would require election boards to post results of races for president, vice president, governor and U.S. congressmen outside polling places as soon as tabulated.

The two major wire services and three nationwide television-broadcast networks comprising the News Election Service supported the measure along with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

But some members of the House Government Operations committee attacked it bitterly on grounds it is "special interest" legislation and that fast counting of votes in Midwest and Eastern states might influence balloting on the West Coast where results would be coming in while polls still were open.

Rep. Car B. Stokes D-44 Cleveland, Cuyahoga was among committee opponents and he and other House members said they planned to carry their fight to the House floor. Members from both parties expressed opposition and support so the bill appeared to be one that would live or die on the merits of debate.

As the House prepared for a showdown, Rep. Charles Fry R-9 Clark introduced a bill that would require voting machines at all Ohio polling places by 1977. His measure would give counties of 40,000 or more population until 1970 to comply, those of 30,000-40,000 until 1973, and those with less than 30,000 until Jan. 1, 1977.

Fry said his measure would nearly double the 10,000 machines now used in 21 counties. Cost was estimated at $16 million.

Fry's bill was among about a dozen introduced as the two chambers held routine floor sessions. The Senate completed passage of a measure permitting the sale of 10-ounce cartons of milk now restricted to 16-ounce and 8-ounce containers in quantities less than quarts.

Sen. Tennyson Guyer R-2 Hancock said the bill would bring Ohio in line with a trend in other states. He added that it was supported by the National Conference on Weights and Measures and the Ohio Dairy Products Association, among others.

Also passed by the upper chamber was an emergency bill appropriating slightly more than $1 million to pay sundry claims against the state, which cannot be sued. Sen. Robert R. Shaw R-16 Columbus, Senate finance chairman, said the claims bill was introduced earlier than usual and with an immediately effective emergency clause to pay claims to some persons "who have been waiting two years or more for their money."

Introduced were proposals that would create an Ohio land commission to provide for a system of inventory and sale of state land; liberalize teacher

Thant Fears War's Spread

GENEVA AP — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said Wednesday there is an increasing danger the war in Vietnam may extend beyond its borders.

Addressing a luncheon of the foreign correspondents in Geneva, Thant said "prospects for peace in Vietnam today are as distant as they were a year ago."

"I may also add that because of the increasing intensification of the war there is a greater danger today of the conflict widening into a larger war going beyond the frontiers of Vietnam."

Thant came to Geneva for consultations with the administration of the U.N. European headquarters. He is scheduled to leave this weekend for Ceylon and a tour through Asia.

He said North Vietnam's attitude has made it virtually impossible for the United Nations to continue any active mediation in the conflict.

Game Called Off Because of Sun

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was former Dodger pitcher Billy Loes who once explained an error by claiming he had lost a ground ball in the sun, but that could hardly have prepared the baseball world for the great Las Vegas sunout.

It happened Wednesday when the Chicago Cubs and California Angels were locked in a fierce exhibition struggle in the gambling capital.

The score was 10-10 and Angels pitcher Rickey Clark leaned in, looking for the plate, but couldn't find it. The sun, on the horizon directly behind the plate, was so blinding, in fact, that he couldn't see much of anything.

Clark called umpire Stan Landes to come out to the mound and take a look. Landes agreed the situation was intolerable and called the game off.

Billy Williams batted in five runs for the Cubs, two each on a pair of tremendous home runs. But the Angels scored four unearned runs in the ninth that tied the game.

Paul Schaaf and Jimmie Hall hit home runs for the Angels.

Elsewhere on the baseball scene, the Baltimore Orioles assigned Steve Barber to their Rochester farm club to see if he can work into shape for the opening of the major league season next week. A mainstay of the Orioles' staff last season,

Barber has been troubled with an inflamed tendon in his pitching elbow.

In a night game with the New York Yankees, the Orioles took a 5-3 decision despite six innings of shutout pitching by Mel Stotemyre for the Yanks.

Ken Henderson's run-scoring double in the 10th sent San Francisco to a 6-5 triumph over Cleveland. Bob Aspromont's home-run homer was the big blow in Houston's 10-3 victory over Los Angeles.

Washington came up with four runs in the ninth, two scoring on a single by Doug Camilli, and bounced Boston 5-1. Jim Northrup hit a single with the bases full and two out in the ninth, driving in the winning run for Detroit, which downed Kansas City 7-6. Northrup also homered for the Tigers.

Atlanta scored three times in the first inning and beat Minnesota 4-3 despite a homer by Rich Rollins for the Twins. Lee May's single in the 12th inning gave Cincinnati a 1-0 win over May's single in the 12th inning Pittsburgh. Billy McCool gave up one hit in six innings for the Reds and Woody Fryman allowed only one hit in five frames for the Pirates.

Rich Allen and Bob Uecker homered for Philadelphia, but St. Louis rallied for two runs in the seventh innings and beat the Phils 5-4.

Gary Player Has Turned Into Just Coy Kitten

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player, once a tiny tiger, is now just a coy kitten.

The fiercely burning competitive drive that made him one of the most feared golfers in the world has dwindled to a flicker and he's the forgotten man of the Big Three.

"I don't get charged up any more," the dapper little South African said today as he teed off in another Masters. "I keep trying to get it back, get that drive, that desire, but it just isn't there any more."

"When you have achieved all your goals, your thinking changes, your whole outlook on life changes."

Player, along with Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, made up the Big Three that dominated the game for several years. But that all changed in 1965 when Gary won the U.S. Open championship in St. Louis.

"I was so wound up then I didn't know where I was," Player recalled. "I didn't want to talk to people. I had a short temper. I was almost obsessed."

That changed when he won the title in a playoff with Kel Nagle.

"That did it," Player said. "When I won that one I felt I had achieved everything and I stopped working on golf."

The victory made him only the third man to win all four major tournaments — the Open, the Masters, the PGA and the British Open — and he went into semi-retirement.

He made infrequent appearances last year, was not a factor in any major tournament and isn't expected to be in this one.

Palmer, the only four-time Masters champ, and Nicklaus, defending champion and three-time winner, were co-favorites at 6-1 when the field of 83 of the world's best golfers teed off on the demanding 6,980-yard, par 72 Augusta National Course.

Doug Sanders and U.S. Open Champ Billy Casper were next at 8-1 while Player, Gay Brewer and Julius Boros were listed at 10-1.

Local Weight Lifting Club Is Active

The Circleville Barbell Club has become active again, entering a meet recently at Dayton.

Lifters for the local club included Bill Cook, bantamweight; Steve Francis, bantamweight; Tom Cassill, featherweight; Phil Grubb, lightweight.

Francis took second place in his weight class and earned three team points with a 605 pound total. Cassill earned five points for the team when he came from behind to win in the 132 pound class. His deadlift of 410 pounds brought his total to 810 pounds.

Grubb, who made a 200 pound bench press, ended with a total lift of 860 pounds in the 148 pound class.

Bruce Horn, a former resident of Circleville, placed first in the 165 pound class with a total of 1,155.

The local club plans to enter a power meet in Cincinnati May 7.

Celtics Seem On Verge of Overthrow

The sun began rising in the West, rivers starting running uphill, the Beatles walked into a barber shop, and the Boston Celtics stood on the verge of elimination in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Boston sank three games behind Philadelphia in their Eastern Division playoff and another 76er victory Sunday in Boston would uncrown the Celtics after eight years as NBA champions.

The 76ers moved the Celtics closer to the brink by whipping them 115-104 Wednesday night for a 3-0 lead in their best-of-7 series as Wilt Chamberlain controlled everything.

In the Western Division, the result was less traumatic as the St. Louis Hawks pulled away from visiting San Francisco in the third period and beat the Warriors 115-109 for their first triumph in three playoff games.

Chamberlain took the game in Philadelphia into his own big hands, scoring 20 points, assisting on nine baskets, blocking shots and pulling down a playoff record 41 rebounds. He shared the old mark of 40 with Boston's Bill Russell.

It was big Wilt's dunk in the final period that put the 76ers ahead to stay 100-99, and when Wally Jones followed with three baskets and Chet Walker one for a 108-102 spread, the game was over.

Chamberlain had help from Hal Greer, who scored 30 points, and Jones, who hit 21.

Russell gave it a battle as he, John Havlicek and Sam Jones tried to protect the unprecedented reign of the Celtics. The player-coach grabbed 29 rebounds, had nine assists and scored nine points. Havlicek had 33 points and Jones 22.

Bill Bridges played the superman role for the Hawks as they kept alive their hopes moving into Saturday night's fourth game in St. Louis.

Bridges scored 25 points and pulled in a career high 32 rebounds to help offset 31 points by Rick Barry and 20 by Jeff Mullins.

The Warriors led 58-53 at intermission, but Lou Hudson sparked St. Louis' third period drive that outscored the Warriors 42-28. Th rookie hit 12 of his 18 points in the period, including eight straight for a 93-78 margin. San Francisco never got closer than five after that.

No Creel Limits Set for First Local Trout Derby

Pickaway County Game Protector Tom Weldon today reminded local anglers of the first annual Trout Derby which will be held at Hargus Lake, A. W. Marion State Park, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife will dump 1,000 trout in Hargus Lake Saturday morning just before the Derby begins.

The division personnel are hoping for a 100 per cent catch. There will be no creel limits. Weldon pointed out that the trout will not reproduce in the local lake, and it is even doubtful if they will survive.

WELDON noted that under actual fishing conditions, about 90 per cent of the fish are landed but about 10 per cent of the fishermen.

He does not feel this ratio will hold true in the trout derby however.

"These fish are all raised in close confinement in hatcheries," the game protector said. "They are not used to swimming for any great distance and will probably hover near to the spots where they were released. Accustomed to people, they will not tend to be frightened by large groups of fishermen."

"These trout usually will hit about anything that is thrown into the water," Weldon pointed out.

"This is a great opportunity for old and young alike to catch a fish that is quite a table delicacy and is not native to Pickaway County waters," he concluded.

FOR THOSE persons who enter the derby, Weldon suggests they bring a sturdy pole rigged with a stout line and a good hook. Adults will need a fishing license.

Virtually any kind of bait will do. When the trout are striking, they will take anything from

Final Sustaining Fee Due for State Fair Stakes

COLUMBUS—Final pre-race for the eight stakes and early closing events featured at the Ohio State Fair harness racing program, Aug. 28-30, are due April 15, it was announced today by Fred Cassel, superintendent of speed.

Sustaining payments of $50 for each nominee to the four Fair Fund events are required to retain eligibility, while for the four filly events, $25 payments are due.

The original 1967 nomination list was the largest in history of the events as owners named 605 two and three-year-olds to the eight events.

Reds Beat Pirates, 1-0

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jim Maloney gets one last chance tonight to show his stuff before working in the Cincinnati Reds' opening game next Monday.

"He'll only pitch a few innings against Cleveland and then I'm going to take a look at a couple of other guys," said Manager Dave Bristol who keeps saying he'd like to get a better look at various hurlers.

Four Cincinnati pitchers did a pretty good job Wednesday holding the Pittsburgh Pirates to five hits in 12 innings at Tampa, Fla. But the opposition was nearly as good. The Reds finally won 1-0 on Vada Pinson's double, an out and rookie Lee May's single down the left field line. The Reds only had three previous hits.

Billy McCool went six innings, giving up only one hit and striking out five, but the victory went to Darrell Osteen who worked one inning.

"I felt much better today than I have all spring," said McCool, "I'm getting more stamina and I think I've caught up."

McCool, who has made the Reds' starting rotation, got off to a slow start because of a leg injury and was touched for 17 hits and 13 runs in 23 2-3 innings before Wednesday's A.M.E.

"I've been saying all along that he would be ready when the season opens," said Bristol. "All we have to do is be a little patient with him and we'll have a good solid left-handed starter for a long time."

Tribe Treks Off To New Orleans

MODESTO, Calif. (AP)—May-be the weather — and the competition — will be friendlier Down South for the Cleveland Indians.

The Tribe moved from the recent rainy, cool weather of California to New Orleans today for the first of four exhibition games against the Cincinnati Reds, their Ohio brethren.

Sonny Siebert, Luis Tiant and a third pitcher were listed to work the opener against Cincinnati.

The Indians left California after posting a 4-5 spring training record against the San Francisco Giants, including Wednesday's 6-5 loss in 10 innings.

Ken Henderson poked a double off George Culver, scoring Dick Dietz, who opened with a single and moved up on Cesar Gutierrez' sacrifice.

All the other Giants' runs came off starter Steve Hargan. Willie McCovey started it with a three-run homer in the first inning, his first of training. The Giants added another in the third when McCovey singled moved up on Larry Brown's error and scored on a single by Ollie Brown.

Yank Top Rookie

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Outfielder Bill Robinson was voted Wednesday the top rookie in the New York Yankee baseball training camp by sports writers covering the Yankees.

Jack Aker of the Kansas City Athletics led both major leagues in saves last year. He saved 26 games or more than one-third of the A's victories. The relief pitcher is only 36 years old.

It's time for a trouble-free Toro!

STANDARD CLIPPINGS BAG. TORO pioneered grass and leaf bagging attachments for rotary mowers in the first place, and this year they're even better. This standard equipment bag clamps on with one hand, and it has a heavy-duty bottom. No zippers to clog, either.

SAFETY SPIN START. You wind up the "impulse" starter, step behind the mower handle, for safety, and push the lever to "start" position. Chokes automatically.

THREE OR 3 1/2 HP. FOUR-CYCLE ENGINE. Starts easily, runs smoother than cheap 2-cycle engines. No mixing of gas and oil.

MAGNESIUM HOUSING. The lighter-than-aluminum stuff they use in airplanes.

AUTO-OILER. A visual oil filler. Push the button and you're sure the crankcase is full. No plug, no funnels, no oily fingers.

CLEAN-OUT PORT. When you're through mowing, let the engine idle and run a little water into the clean-out port. The blade splashes it all around under the housing and washes it out like new.

TRIMMIT. You know that grass along the sidewalk that won't stand up? This little device props it up so the blade can clip it off crisply.

WIND-TUNNEL HOUSING. TORO's "S" shaped cutting blade actually creates a powerful suction under the housing. It pulls grass up for a more even cut, "vacuums" leaves, too.

3 Veterans Bolster TVHS Golf Squad

With three veterans back and a host of talented young swingers vying for the fourth position the Teays Valley Golf squad could have a real good year, according to Russ Gregg, TV athletic director.

The veterans returning to the squad are the brothers Ron and Mark Leatherwood and Mike Binion. All are securely entrenched in starting roles presently.

About 13 equally good hopefuls are trying to gain the fourth spot by Tuesday when the Vikings host Pleasant View in the first meet of the season.

The Viking golfers play at Upper Lansdowne Golf Course. Don Collins, owner-pro, is serving as the Teays Valley coach this year.

Reds Beat Pirates, 1-0

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jim Maloney gets one last chance tonight to show his stuff before working in the Cincinnati Reds' opening game next Monday.

"He'll only pitch a few innings against Cleveland and then I'm going to take a look at a couple of other guys," said Manager Dave Bristol who keeps saying he'd like to get a better look at various hurlers.

Four Cincinnati pitchers did a pretty good job Wednesday holding the Pittsburgh Pirates to five hits in 12 innings at Tampa, Fla. But the opposition was nearly as good. The Reds finally won 1-0 on Vada Pinson's double, an out and rookie Lee May's single down the left field line. The Reds only had three previous hits.

Billy McCool went six innings, giving up only one hit and striking out five, but the victory went to Darrell Osteen who worked one inning.

"I felt much better today than I have all spring," said McCool, "I'm getting more stamina and I think I've caught up."

McCool, who has made the Reds' starting rotation, got off to a slow start because of a leg injury and was touched for 17 hits and 13 runs in 23 2-3 innings before Wednesday's AME.

"I've been saying all along that he would be ready when the season opens," said Bristol.

"All we have to do is be a little patient with him and we'll have a good solid left-handed starter for a long time."

Tribe Treks Off To New Orleans

MODESTO, Calif. (AP)—May be the weather — and the competition — will be friendlier Down South for the Cleveland Indians.

The Tribe moved from the recent rainy, cool weather of California to New Orleans today for the first of four exhibition games against the Cincinnati Reds, their Ohio brethren.

Sonny Siebert, Luis Tiant and a third pitcher were listed to work the opener against Cincinnati.

The Indians left California after posting a 4-5 spring training record against the San Francisco Giants, including Wednesday's 6-5 loss in 10 innings.

Ken Henderson poked a double off George Culver, scoring Dick Dietz, who opened with a single and moved up on Cesar Gutierrez' sacrifice.

All the other Giants' runs came off starter Steve Hargan. Willie McCovey started it with a three-run homer in the first inning, his first of training. The Giants added another in the third when McCovey singled moved up on Larry Brown's error and scored on a single by Ollie Brown.

Leon Wagner poked a three-run homer for Cleveland in the fourth off Ron Herbel, who gave up two more runs the next inning. The Giants tied it in the fifth.

The Tribe had a chance to go ahead in the 10th. With runners on first and third, Chuck Hinton fouled off a third strike in a squeeze hunt attempt. On an attempted double steal, the runner from third was cut down at home plate.

Sam McDowell followed Hargan to the mound and gave up two hits in three innings. With the bases full and none out in the sixth he struck out Hal Lanier, threw out a runner at the plate and fanned Willie Mays.

Trades Add Competition, Depth to Washington '9'

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor
POMPAHO BEACH, Fla. — Each year that Gil Hodges has managed the Washington Senators (and this is his fourth full season) the club has improved.

And there is no reason to believe that the 1967 Capitol Crew can't improve on the 71-88 mark of last year, particularly with the trades the team made and with "more depth and more competition for many positions, as Gil puts it.

The former Dodger great has been signed through the 1968 season and the Senators may even wind up in the first division if Gil gets an extension on his contract after 1968.

"I'm very happy with the deals we made," the very pleasant Gil says. "These are going to make us a better club and I don't know of any spring since I've been here where we have so much competition for our starting positions."

"Our pitching did a fine job last year," Gil points out, "and even if we gave up Ron Kline and Mike McCormick I think we have picked up two good ones in Darold Knowles (from the Philadelphia Phils) and Bob Priddy (San Francisco Giants). We tried to get Knowles the year before but we couldn't get him then. We could use Knowles (6-5 in 69 games last year) in the bullpen or as a starter."

"If you win in the majors, you win in the bullpen, and last year our relief pitching was real good. And it should be better this year."

The other Senator moves brought in pitcher Camilo Pascual from the Twins, second baseman Bernie Allen from the Twins, and outfielder Cap Peterson from the Giants.

"We could be deeper at third," explains Gil, "because Peterson can play that spot as well as the outfield. We have better depth at second with Allen. He's a stronger fellow now. We have a fine prospect here, too, in Tim Cullen (he hit .295 for Hawaii), who is getting close."

"Neither Ken Harrelson nor Dick Nen gave us too much offense at first last year but we could put Frank Howard there. I'd like to play him in left field, though. In the outfield we have a fine prospect in Hank Allen, who is the brother of Richie of the Phils."

Allen hit 24 homers for Hawaii. Hodges says that "we could have the best catching in the American League this year if John Orsino's arm comes around." The regular here is last year's find, Paul Casanova, with Doug Camilli also on hand.

The Senator's pitching is good. In Pete Richert and Phil Ortega the club has two fine starters. Pascual has been a good pitcher in the past. Among the newcomers are 20-year-old Joe Coleman, son of the former major leaguer, and Barry Moore, a left-hander.

Coleman has an unusual story. He lost 19 games with York in the minors last year and 10 against two wins the year before at Burlington. But he has pitched three games for the Ray (Ike) Boone, former major league infielder, scouts for the Boston Red Sox.

Senators in late-season stints and won all three. Moore was 5-8 at York but has the makings to be a good one.

HEAD START OFFICIALS — Mrs. Gloria Pike (left), administrator of PCCAO, welcomes Mrs. Beatrice Oliver aboard as staff director for the Summer session of the local Head Start Program. Mrs. Oliver is a Circleville native.

Murder . . .

Suzann Farris and Mary Ann Jordan were the last victims to enter the bedroom. Miss Amurao said Speck did not bind them, but ordered them out of the room. He followed, closing the door.

In short sentences she described how each of the victims was led or dragged to her death in other rooms of the house.

She said she heard water running in the bathroom shortly before the killer returned for another victim. She said the intruder was absent from the large bedroom 20-25 minutes with each girl.

One victim was found in the bathroom, another in a hallway, two in one bedroom and three piled on the floor of another room. Miss Davy, the final victim, was found nude in the first floor living room.

Miss Amurao sat on the second time when she was asked to describe the rape of Miss Davy.

Her testimony trailed off and the judge called a brief recess. Money, Miss Amurao sat on the courtroom floor and demonstrated how after discovering the room was empty, she crawled, with her wrists and ankles bound, to a more concealed location under another bed.

She said that when Speck returned after 45 minutes, he switched on the light and jingled some change. Miss Amurao said he turned off the light and left the room.

She wriggled out of her bonds after an alarm clock rang at 5 a.m. She ran through the hallway to her bedroom, observing three of the bodies, climbed to the top of her bunk and screamed out an open window.

No one heard her. She climbed out to a ledge and screamed for 20 minutes more.

"Miss Judy Dytkom saw me on the ledge. I went back to my bedroom, going to the stairs, and then I went down. Then Miss Judy Dytkom bring me to 2315 (E. 100 St.)."

Weekly Food Review

NEW YORK (AP) — Food prices dipped again this week. Farmers have been sending more livestock to market, and Southern crops have been better than they were a year ago, when they were curtailed by freezes.

As a result, wholesale prices this week dipped 6.3 per cent lower than a year ago, and are now the lowest in 15 months.

Shipments of strawberries, cauliflower and asparagus from California, and sweet corn, tomatoes, potatoes, peppers and citrus from Texas and grapefruit from Florida are increasing, leading to lower prices.

Egg prices, which have been tumbling since Easter, fell again this week. Prices now are about 25 cents a dozen lower than they were in November.

Shoppers also may find lower prices on frozen strawberries and canned fruit cocktail, pears, zucchini, lima beans, crinkle cut beets, diced carrots, pineapple, salmon and tuna fish—special brand promotions this month.

The California tuna market has been glutted, and some vessels have been diverted to Puerto Rico. Tuna production in Hawaii and American Samoa in February was up 60 per cent from 1966.

Mrs. Pike has welcomed Mrs. Oliver aboard as an integral part of the new summer session of the local Head Start Program.

Solons Go Slow On Postal Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House appears in a mood to give the military a quick pay raise, but action may be slower on President Johnson's companion requests for a hike in postal rates and a pay raise for federal employees.

Johnson asked Wednesday for a penny-per-letter increase as part of an $800-million postal rate boost and for pay raises which could add up to $2.5 billion.

"We'll do it so fast it will make your head swim," Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee, said in reference to the military pay proposal.

But there appeared to be a question of how much of the postal and civilian pay raises would be granted.

The postal plan, including a 6-cent charge for first-class letters and 9 cents for air mail, was termed "the most comprehensive approach to adjustment in our complex postal rate structure" in many years by Chairman Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y., of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

"I'm inclined to support it," said Rep. Robert J. Corbett of Pennsylvania, ranking Republican committee member.

In the past, the committee has increased administration pay rate proposals for the government's 2.5 million civilian employees, but has trimmed down requested postal rate hikes.

Since 1962, the civilian employees have received pay raises averaging about 23 per cent in a move to make salaries comparable with those in private industry. Johnson's new proposal includes an average boost of 4.5

per cent effective Oct. 1 with further increases Oct. 1, 1968, and Oct. 1, 1969.

Officials said the 4.5 per cent average military pay increase for 3.37 million men would be added to the combination of basic pay, and quarters and subsistence allowances. But most of the money would come in basic pay, producing an actual basic pay increase of 5.6 per cent. This would be effective Oct. 1.

In other key congressional matters: Some Senate supporters of a presidential campaign financing plan were to press today for amendments to save the basic scheme.

The administration has dropped its fight for Senate approval of a resolution pledging new U.S. aid for Latin-American development.

It Was 50 . . .

As in every war, there were boys who fudged about their age to get into service. In 1917, a tough kid named Mike Mansfield managed to get into the Navy at 14. He later did time with the Marines and the Army.

Now a senator from Montana, Mansfield is leader of the Senate Democrats.

The late Gen. Peyton C. March, a wartime Army chief of staff, once told a reporter years later that in his view the greatest U.S. achievement of the war was the movement of two million men to France as quickly as was done.

He recalled that some men moved in old ships with three-tier bunks improvised from 2 by 4s with chicken wire netting for the men to lie on. Three men were loaded for each bunk and each allotted eight hours of bunk time. The bunks were used around the clock.

If it was indeed a race with time, it was won.

Murder . . .

Suzann Farris and Mary Ann Jordan were the last victims to enter the bedroom. Miss Amurao said Speck did not bind them, but ordered them out of the room. He followed, closing the door.

In short sentences she described how each of the victims was led or dragged to her death in other rooms of the house.

She said she heard water running in the bathroom shortly before the killer returned for another victim. She said the intruder was absent from the large bedroom 20-25 minutes with each girl.

One victim was found in the bathroom, another in a hallway, two in one bedroom and three piled on the floor of another room. Miss Davy, the final victim, was found nude in the first floor living room.
